

Parliamentary Committee on Intelligence and Security

A Parliament Committee, which is also known as the Intelligence and Security Parliamentary Committee, was established to examine the expenditure, administration and policy of the Directorate.

The Parliamentary Committee shall consist of;

- (a) nine members of Parliament who shall not be members of Cabinet
- (b) The Members of the Parliamentary Committee shall be appointed by the President after consultation with the Speaker of the National Assembly and the Leader of the Opposition in the National Assembly.